

Riparian mural of the Loddon River at Bridgewater

Photo 1

This is a large, intricate mosaic artwork depicting a landscape with a river, bridges, and various fish. The mosaic is composed of numerous small tiles, including photographs, painted tiles, and ceramic pieces. The top section shows a river with several bridges and buildings. The middle section features a large fish, possibly a cod, swimming in the water. The bottom section is filled with various smaller fish and aquatic life. The mosaic is set against a dark background.
