

What do you think about pesticides?

Researchers from Deakin University want to learn about your knowledge, attitudes and behaviours around pesticides and other synthetic chemicals in Australia. Community perspectives are important when it comes to shaping future research, catchment activities and policy direction around pesticides in Australia.

Eligibility

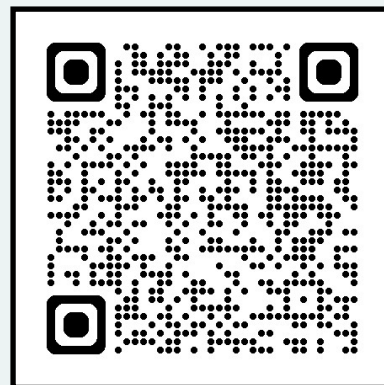

If you are over the age of 18 and live in Victoria, you are eligible to respond to our survey via the QR code below.

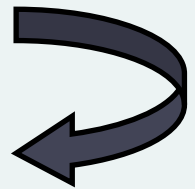

What's involved?

The study involves an online survey (approx. 15 mins).

Responses are collected anonymously.

Access survey here!

Data is collected anonymously and will be used to help inform regulatory authorities and other stakeholders about the views of the Australian community and the value of community programs. The full Plain Language Statement (PLS) is available via the QR code or can be requested by contacting brady.hamilton@deakin.edu.au. This is a student research project led by Brady Hamilton, Graduate Researcher at Deakin University.

This study has received Deakin University ethics approval (Project number: 2025/HE000181)